Protect Your Family

According to national statistics, there were, on average, 3,100 RV fires each year from 2002 through 2005. These fires caused seven deaths, 62 injuries and approximately $41 million in damages in each of those years. RVs can quickly burn down to the metal frame especially if there is fuel and propane present. It is recommended to have an evacuation plan in place because if you can see flames, you may only have 20 seconds to get everyone out of the RV. Most of the aforementioned fires begin in the engine compartment making them easily contained by a FireGator™ system, protecting your family and your investment in your RV.

Reduce Your Insurance Premiums

Insurance companies base your premiums on risk. FireGator™ reduces one of the most common causes of the loss of your RV. Depending on your insurance carrier, over the lifetime of your FireGator™ system, you could end up saving more in lowered premiums than the system cost you up front. Between reduced premiums and peace of mind by protecting your family, putting a FireGator™ system on your RV just makes sense.
